NOTES:

CHALLENGE

High rise apartment living is becoming more common for many communities. Often these complexes stretch for several community blocks. This fire is in the early morning hours. The residents are probably sleeping. There are a multitude of challenges. You have arrived at this scene. It's your call!

DISCUSSION

- What hazards might be present at this location?
- How would your tactics be affected if you knew the home was occupied, unoccupied or you were uncertain?
- What impact does the close proximity of other residents have on scene safety and tactics?
- How often do we encounter situations like this one?
- Do our drills address situations like this scenario adequately?
- How can we improve our drills?

The greatest asset of the fire service is our people; protect them!
